

Starting POINTS for Maine

Maine Parent Federation is pleased to announce the launch of our Community website, “Starting Points for Maine”: www.startingpointsforme.org. Starting POINTS for Maine is an online community for families of children with disabilities Providing Opportunities for Information Networking, Training and Support as they learn, share and connect about the educational and developmental needs of their children. Parents and providers can read articles, view publications and find resources on a variety of topics. The Upcoming Events section has a calendar where you can find a list of live MPF events. We offer online trainings so parents and providers can learn in the comfort of their home, without worrying about childcare and transportation. Parents can connect with each other through the Parent Perspectives online forum. This forum is designed to offer a small community environment where parents and others can share experiences, discuss books, offer advice, provide support, and share resources. The site is currently under construction, so please visit often to see what’s new!
