

Tips for Getting a Job

A new government-funded website helps individuals with developmental disabilities become gainfully employed. Text and video-based features on the JobTIPS site offers tools for job seekers with disabilities to identify compatible employment opportunities. The site also offers advice on how to act in an interview or at work and tips on when and how to talk about a diagnosis. Finally, the website includes resources for educators, clinicians and transition specialists.

<http://www.do2learn.com/JobTIPS/index.html>